

View in browser

Tech Innovation News for Real Estate Industry

Proactive VS Reactive IT Support: What's the difference?

Reactive IT support is when organization buys support on as needed basis. Mibsam Shaukat hosts a short discussion for organizations to decide whether Proactive versus Reactive IT Support model fits their needs.

Why On-Premise to Cloud Migration make sense?

The traditional way for implementing and maintaining systems on-premises is being replaced by the Cloud. Businesses are at different stages of adoption. In this blog, we discuss the factors compelling businesses in general and real estate companies in particular, to migrate to the Cloud.

Read more...

What's an ideal Real Estate Document Management Software?

Real estate companies produce lots of documents on a regular basis. But maintaining these documents properly becomes a bigger challenge as business grows. In this blog, we discuss the key features of an ideal real estate document management software.

Read more...

Proactive Vs Reactive IT Support

Reactive IT support model allows organizations to buy a block of hours and consume them on as needed basis. Proactive support model is a completely opposite approach. In this blog, we discuss how organizations can pick the best approach based on their business needs.

Read more...

Win Referral Reward

© 2021 CRES Technology. All rights reserved.

477 Madison Ave, Sixth Floor, New York, NY 10022

Tel. (212) 692-7271
Unsubscribe